We are hoping that at least 100 of the 4000 coming to Capetown are among those whose primary ministry is to see Muslims leaving the Kingdom of Darkness, and entering the Kingdom of Christ Jesus.

As Lausanne is about unity between God's people, and working together, it is important that we build up one another, as "iron sharpens iron", not attack, demean, spread rumors, or allow factions between the Lord's servants.

Some are called to focus on making disciples, and others on making sure we stay biblical and pleasing to the Lord. We need each other.

So who wants to meet, correspond, and/or think together?
